NEAR FIST FIGHT ON TEXAS COMPANY BILL

EFFORT OF SPEAKER PRO TEM TO KILL MEASURE CAUSES TROUBLE

UP IN HOUSE THIS AFTERNOON

Senate Is Again Considering Compulsory Education Bill—Agreement On Horse Racing

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, March 4—A lively fight was started in the House today when the Texas Company bill was up for final passage and an effort was made to kill the bill by parliamentary proceedings When Lewelling in the chair attempted to declare that a motion to postpone the bill indefinitely prevailed a physical encounter was narrowly averted

The bill is pending this afternoon The following bills were passed finally

Bryan's bill to purchase school lands

The Bailey bill appropriating $3000 for eradication of citrus canker

The Senate today resumed consideration of the comuplsory education bill which was pending when the Senate recessed last night It was still under consideration when the Senate recessed until 2 this afternoon

An agreement has been reached on two amendments to the Clark Senate bill known as the race horse bill now pending One adds the local option feature to the measure and provides that any county may vote out horse racing by a majority vote The other prohibits a minor from being allowed to participate in the betting

Six bills were introduced in the House today Among them was one by Representative Burgmeister to disorganize Duval county and attach it to Live Oak county for judicial and governmental purposes

Compulsory Education Fight.

The fight for a compulsory education law has again reached the Senate and was the occasion for a bitter contest Wednesday afternoon Several times such a bill has passed the House usually cut to pieces by amendments, but it always died in the upper chamber Largely responsible for this was Senator Hudspeth who fought the compulsory education idea with all his strength and in opening the fight on the bill yesterday he conjured visions of the reconstruction days and the regime of E J Davis, in picturing the horrors of a State where the law could make a man send his children to school when he didn't want to

When the bill came up Senator Hudspeth at once made a motion to postpone as he wanted time to study the bill, and proposed to make a long speech in opposition to it He announced he expected to fight it to the last Astin also joined in the motion to postpone and Bee the leader of the advocates of the bill said if the fight was to come as suggested by the senator from El Paso, there was no better time than now to open it, and he opposed any postponement that would jeopardize the place of the bill on the calendar

Hudspeth then, in ringing words said the passage of this bill meant a return to the days of E J Davis and his vile constabulary, the re-enactment of such rule as marked carpet bag days in Texas and proposed to fight it as long as he was able to hold the floor He cared not if it came as a platform demand, he would vote against any platform demand that did not meet the approval of his conscience He insisted on postponement

Nugent also called up the reconstruction ghost and pictured the horrors of the Davis regime and said no father would consent to have his home invaded by constables to take his children by force of arms when he did not want to send them to school This bill, he said, will reproduce, almost, the iniquitous constabulary against which the citizens rose when they elected Coke and drove Davis from the capitol He admired and loved the senator from Bexar, but wanted to warn him that he was paving the way for disappointment in his ambitions to serve the people, as he knew he wished to serve them faithfully and well

Brelsford Holds Senate

Brelsford held the Senate quiet while he made a powerful appeal for the education of the children of Texas He said first that Bee's connection with the bill was not in furtherance of any ambition, personal not political, but from a sense of duty to the people of the State Brelsford was for the bill because he believes as he knows a vast majority of the women of the State of a great number of the men of the State believe that in the education of the children of Texas lies the future of the State

Asked by Nugent if he was willing to have his home invaded by a constable to drag his child away to school he replied in impassioned words that brought hearty applause that if he ever proved so recreant to his duty as a father so false to his duty as a citizen, as to fail to take his boy by the hand and escort him to school, then he ought to be taken to jail and lie there until he rotted This bill meant the very life of the children of Texas thousands of whom would never see the inside of a

COMPANIES WOULD INVEST $35,000,000

AGREE TO PROPOSITION IF GIBSON BILL PASSES THE LEGISLATURE

GOVERNOR TELLS COMMITTEE

Also Willing to Pay $150,000 in Back Taxes—May Mean Passage of Bill

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas March 4—A lively life insurance companies which withdrew from the State in 1907 on account of the Robertson insurance law have agreed to invest upwards of $35,000,000 in Texas within the next five years and to pay last year's taxes which aggregate $150,000 in the event the Gibson bill which amends the Robertson law is enacted by the legislature

This proposition was submitted by Governor Ferguson to the Senate committee on insurance which gave a hearing on the Gibson bill The governor outlined the history of the negotiations which he had conducted with the insurance companies and explained his position at the time he made the race for governor and his utterances in his Blum speech

Believes Would Keep Promise.

The governor presented figures showing that the executive heads of several companies have agreed to make investments which the governor believes will be upwards of $35,000,000 The governor said

I will frankly say that this agreement would not be binding on these companies but I am willing to stake my reputation that they comply with its terms These companies could not afford to go back on their promise as they would be stigmatized in the business world and could not look Texas nor their own people in the face

The governor's proposition will more than likely result in favorable action being taken on the measure by the committee and may also mean the passage of the Gibson bill The hearing will be resumed tonight

NAVAL POLICY OF ENGLAND CRITICISED

MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT CALLS FOR PROTECTION OF NEUTRALS

DISPOSITION OF SEIZED GOODS

Thinks Those Belonging To Enemy Should Be Confiscated By Great Britain

By Associated Press

London March 4—Thomas Gibson Bowles former member of parliament and writer on naval matters expressed with much emphasis his inability to understand the policy of reprisals against Germany outlined in Premier Asquith's speech in the House of Commons Mr Bowles said

'What is to happen to cargoes of enemy ownership, origin and destination which are brought into port? They are not to be confiscated, this is expressly declared Are they to be purchased by the captors according to the doctrine of pre-emption with compensation for delay?

If the latter course were pursued Mr Bowles pointed out, Great Britain would trade with Germany on a larger scale If pre-emption were not to be resorted to Mr Bowles asked if seized goods would be held in trust

The speaker criticised the Asquith policy in that so far as it has been outlined it neglects to conform to the common law which protects neutral traders He further objected to the premier's policy because it does not inflict maximum damages upon the enemy by confiscating the goods found in neutral ships

NAVAL OFFICERS' RANK IS RAISED BY CONGRESS

Commanders Are All To Be Admirals or Vice Admirals Step Is Important

By Associated Press.

Washington March 4—With commanding officers of the American battleship fleets now to be ranked as admirals and vice-admirals the American navy no longer will labor under the handicap of having to take orders from commanding officers other than its own, when joint operations are held with navies of other nations

In a statement on the naval bill just passed by Congress, Secretary Daniels says that the creation of the rank of admiral and vice admiral will give the American navy the position to which it is entitled Heretofore the navy has not had much position during joint operations because other countries some of them with much smaller navies, have given higher rank to the commanding officers The new ranks are to be conferred upon officers only as long as they command afloat and not permanently

London, March 4—A Reuter dispatch from Athens says

The bombardment of the inner forts of the Dardanelles was resumed Thursday morning Ten big war ships took part in the operations According to a British officer only two of the Turkish forts remain intact

Allied landing parties found the charred remains of soldiers in the damaged forts showing that the Turks had burned their dead before evacuating these positions

SAYS FLEET HASN'T REACHED REAL LINE OF DEFENSE

By Associated Press

Berlin March 4—Attaches of the Turkish embassy profess to be unconcerned regarding the bombardment of the Dardanelles forts They declare the fortifications are impregnable that the landing of troops at the entrance of the straits is impossible and that any attempt to land a force at some point along the shore of the Gulf of Saros would require more men than the allies can concentrate leaving out of consideration the strong Turkish forces stationed at all threatened points

The Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung sends his paper an interview with Enver Pasha in which the chief of the Turkish general staff is said to have declared that the damage to the outer forts was less than had been reported but that these forts are the oldest of the entire line and their early reduction always has been expected if a serious attack were made upon the Dardanelles The allied fleet, he declared has yet to reach the real line of defense

VICTORY OVER AUSTRIANS IS SCORED BY RUSSIANS

Effort To Relieve Przemysl Fails—Germans Admit Retirement From Przasnysz

ENGLISH PRESS WORRIED OVER NEUTRAL VIEW

Asquith's Announcement Finds Disfavor Abroad—Bombardment Of Dardanelles Continues

By Associated Press.

London, March 4.—The interest of British readers in the Russian campaign has again shifted to the extreme southern portion of the line of battle where Petrograd reports that General Brusiloff has won a noteworthy victory south of Baligroud inflicting heavy losses on the Austrians who were again pressing north to the relief of Przemysl. At the same time an unofficial dispatch from Bucharest credits the Russian forces with the reoccupation of Stanislau in Galicia. On the other hand, Vienna reports the repulse of desperate counter-attacks in the Carpathians with comparative inactivity along the remainder of the line. Berlin admits officially the German retirement from Przasnysz north of Warsaw was made in good order in spite of haste that necessitated the abandonment of wounded.

On the western battle front in France and Belgium the French now appear to be content in holding the positions they claim to have won in the Champagne district.

While British battleships are battering Fort No. 8 and Fort No. 9 in the narrows of the Dardanelles from a point ten miles within the entrance of the strait, French warships from the Gulf of Saros are bombarding the Turkish positions at Bulair. A report has been current in London that certain big Krupp guns recently sent to the Dardanelles are still unmounted and an aerial reconnoissance made over the straits last evening seems to have confirmed this report. The battleships of the allies which now show all the colors of the triple entente by the addition of the Russian cruiser Askold undoubtedly have turned the straits of the Dardanelles into an inferno which according to British and French claims has spelled destruction to the Turkish defenses.

On the other hand, reports from Constantinople deride this activity as ineffective. The Turks however, do admit the destruction of the outer forts which they say they expected, but declare the inner works impregnable. The Turks rely on mines, but mine-sweepers of the allies have been busy within a mile and a haf of the forts, destroying a Turkish mine field detected by sharp-eyed aviators. Among other reinforcements which it is now said to make the feet off the Dardannelles number 50 ships is the British battleship Canopus last heard of as anchored off the Falkland islands. In the Falkland Island fight the Canopus fired the first shof at the German suadron under the command of Admiral Von Spee. The only craft which either French or British authorities report has been compelled to withdraw from the action is the British torpedo boat destroyer Zephyr built 20 years ago.

In the political field it would appear that other neutrals are awaiting the ead of the United States before embarking on any course of action imposed by Premier Asquith's announcement of the retaliatory policy of the allies. Meanwhile British newspapers are expressing some uneasiness because of the unfavorable impression the Premier's announcement seems to have made upon American public opinion.

TO EXPLORE SITE OF INCA CIVILIZATION

AMERICAN EXPEDITION LEAVES TO WORK IN ANDES MOUNTAIN COUNTRY

STUDY HISTORY OF LOST RACE

Will Try to Discover More About People Flourished Before Days of Columbus

Washington, March 4.—Under the leadership of Dr. Hiram Bingham, the National Geographic Society-Yale University Peruvian Expedition sailed from New York yesterday to continue its work in the Andean Mountains, in the hope of finding the key to the mysteries of the New World's past. The Inca and Atzec civilizations which flourished in this hemisphere before the arrival of those gold hungry adventurers and destroyers who followed in the wake of Columbus have an inexpressibly melancholy interest, in that traditions of them indicate how complete systems of culture may be swept away and hardly leave a trace. Work already accomplished in the Peruvian Andes by Dr Bingham under the auspices of the National Geographic Society and Yale University suggests that the clue has been found to the history of the Incas, and that it will be possible to clear up much of the mystery concerning that civilization which the conquistadores ruthlessly laid waste.

In a concealed valley in the high Andes of Peru, the "American Tibet" Dr Bingham has discovered one of the lost Inca cities, which he now believes to be the famous Machu Picchu of Indian and Spanish legend, birthplace and last hidden abode of Inca power, faith and culture. The Inca Empire endured between 1100 A. D and 1572 A. D. Here in this wild, inaccessible mountain region the Peruvian Expedition of 1914-15 will continue its painstaking efforts to lift the veil from the pre-Columbian secrets of the Western Hemisphere, and there is promise that these secrets will prove as wonderful and as fascinating as those which the scientists have forced the dead civilization of the Nile and of the Mesopotamian valleys to surrender.

Interesting Ruins Found.

The highlands of Peru contain vestiges of the most ancient and advanced culture in South America They hold preserved within their valleys the remains of long forgotten Indian towns and cities, ruins of roads and aqueducts, of walls, fortresses and terraces and in these ruins is written the story of the first American engineers and architects of America's earliest metallurgists and artificers in metals, clays and dores. These remains, together with the specimens of bronze and silver, ornaments, tools and utensils, form a commentary upon the ancient Inca life out of which the explorers hope to be able to reconstruct a connected picture of the storied Inca Empire.

There was formerly considerable gold to be found in this region, and for many years it was the dream of every adventuresome spirit in the New World and the goal of many fortune hunters. However, four centuries of treasure seeking probably has left little in the way of precious metals to the modern explorer. Old legends of inexhaustible stores of Inca gold, nevertheless, detract nothing from the enticing interest of these little traveled mountains.

The theatre of the National Geographic Society-Yale University expedition is a wonderful county, whose magnificent scenery and part revealed past give it as powerful an appeal as that possessed by any other of the world's areas. It is filled with deep rent canyons, majestic unclimbed mountain peaks, wide ranges of vivid colored, tropical jungles; and it is crossed by the splendid roaring rapids of the Apurimac and the Urubamba, whose waters go to feed the Amazon. It has its disagreeable features, on the other hand, such as insect pests which swarm the lowlands in innumerable millions, the vampire bats of the middle valleys and the bitter cold of the nights in the uplands.

At The Theaters

GOOD, WHOLESOME COMEDY IN "PEG O' MY HEART"

At last Wichita Falls is to see "Peg O' My Heart" the play in which Laurette Taylor has broken all records for consecutive performances at the Cort Theatre, New York. This exquisite and wholesome comedy from the pen of J. Hartley Manners will be seen here on March 11 at the Wichita Theatre under the management of Oliver Morosco. Those who have been to New York and have been fortunate enough to obtain seats to see "Peg" will be the greatest boosters of the play in every town where the touring company goes, for it is not at all exceptional for New Yorkers to see the show four or five times. The comedy is so refreshing, so brimful of the joy of right living and thinking and the whole done up in such an irresistable irish wrapper that a second visit but enhances the impression of the first.

The Lydia Margaret

Taylor and Brown in "Grand Opera Gone Wrong" and Norman, the Frog Man, make up the vaudeville bill opening tonight for the last part of this week. Today's pictures include "Merry Mary's Marriage," an L-Ko comedy and "The Measure of a Man" a two part special with Pauline Bush playing the leading role.

The scenario of this photodrama of life across the border was written by Thomas Forman and produced by Joseph de Grasse. William Dowlan, Joseph de Grasse, Pauline Bush and Lon Chaney enact the leading roles.

In addition to its faithful reproduction of life in the factor trading posts of the far north, the film is built upon a foundation of primal strength. Primitive passions have their fullest play. The dramatic denoument attains its greatest interest following a totally unexpected climax, which leaves one silent in admiration of the author's mastery of his theme.

Pauline Bush, as the wife of a lovable gambler type, displays her artistry in the skillful handling of a difficult role. As a Western type, Pauline Bush makes an ideal figure. Her impersonation of Helen MacDermott in "The Measure of a Man is but another instance of her exceptional powers of characterization.

The Empress

Wallace Reid and Claire Anderson are featured in a two-part Majestic, "Three Brothers." This story proves that affection for a brother will sometimes master love.

Three brothers—Bob, Will and Charlie, all are in love with Mae. Bob, the eldest, is sullen and revengeful, and Mae is afraid of him. Will, the middle brother, is a happy-go-lucky boy with whom she falls in love, and Charlie, the youngest, sacrifices his own feelings for Will, who loves Charlie devotedly. Will and Mae are engaged. During his absence in the city, where he is trying to get a hold in business, so that he and Mae can marry, Bob makes violent love to his brother's fiancee. Charlie comes to her rescue. Learning of the episode, later, Will has sent word home that he is dead—and Mae marries Charlie. Some time after this, Will cannot resist coming home to see his mother and Charlie—though he intends that Mae shall not know of his return. Before he can slip away, however, an incident occurs in which he is called upon to save Charlie's life. His presence and his heroism become known to Mae. The inference is that she has a good deal of a struggle to overcome vain regrets.

Chester Conklin, the little chap who has been making the Empress patrons laugh in the Keystone comedies, is showing in a two part comedy today "The Homebreakers." These fortnightly two part comedies are features of the Empress program that are long to be remembered.

The Majestic.

The eighth of "Olive's Opportunities" is showing here today with Mabel Trunelle in the title role. "Olive's Other Son" shows how Olive's nature is completely changed as a result of an accident which leaves her memory a blank From an angel of mercy she changed to an artist's model, leading a wild life and casting off her old friends. She suffers rather a rude awakening but her old self is finally brought back A Selig comedy, "The Strenuous Life" is also on the program with a two part Vitagraph, "In Latin Quarters" as the headliner on the bill Edith Storey is featured in this latter picture, a synopsis of which follows

A rival artist tries to destroy the better painting of his competitor, for the grand prize He seizes a dagger to hack it to pieces when his rival's model, with whom the jealous and frenzied man is in love, steps forward to stop him and receives the first blow of the dagger He believes he has killed the girl and flees Afterwards he learns that she is not fatally hurt and returns to beg forgiveness, which is readily granted He congratulates his rival and tells him he justly won the prize The suspicious wife of the successful artist, who was jealous of the model finds she did the girl an injustice Those who witness this remarkable drama at the Majestic tonight will have a treat beyond their expectations

The Gem.

Maurice Costello, Thomas H. Mills, Robert Gaillord and Estelle Mardo are featured in a two part Vitagraph special, "The Plot This story deals with a band of Russian conspirators and while the scenes are laid in the United States the atmosphere is distinctly foreign.

While interviewing Kasso, newly appointed ambassador to the United States, Roy Burton, a reporter, meets Vera, Kasso's daughter, and the two fall in love at first sight. A band of Russian conspirators, headed by Alexis and his assistants Paul and Michael—the latter a butler in Kasso's household—are plotting the death of the ambassador Roy gets on their track by a peculiar accident and promises Vera to do all in his power to run down the conspirators He follows Paul to their hiding place, but is in turn followed by Michael, is knocked senseless and dragged into their lair Alexis prevents him from being killed at once, saying he has a better plan by which he can make use of Roy He succeeds in making a hypnotic subject of Roy, perfects a concussion bomb and plans to have the hypnotized Roy hurl it at Kasso. Vera recognizes Paul in a street car, follows him to the den, but as she is looking through the door, he springs out and overpowers her. He drags her inside and is left in charge of her while Alexis and Michael take Roy to Kasso's house Paul endeavors to make advances to Vera, but she manages to fell him with a bottle, then finding the door locked, blows it open with one of the conspirator's bombs, and with two policemen, dashes to her father's house. Alexis, using his hypnotic power, forces Roy to walk up to Kasso, holding the deadly bomb behind him. Just as he raises it to hurl it at their feet, Vera rushes up and seizes his arm, while the rascally conspirators are made prisoners. Alexis boasts that no one can break the hypnotic spell he has cast over Roy, but Vera's love proves stronger, and Roy is freed from its sway.

RUSSIA IS CONSIDERING EXPELLING ALL GERMANS

Hesitates to Do So Because of Work That Only Germans Know How to Do

By Associated Press

Petrograd, March 4.—The Proposal to oust the German population from Russia still hangs fire. Recommendations made before the Imperial Council and several commissions and sub-commissions appointed by the government have included the government purchases of all landed property owned by Russian citizens of German nationality and the expulsion of these subjects from Russia. But owing to the difficulty of replacing the Germans, who occupy an important position in Russia's industrial scheme, the German problem still lies before the commissions with little probability of immediate solution.

The liberally-inclined members believe that while the Germans should not continue to enjoy the special privileges which have favored the German industry in Russia in the past, they should not, on the other hand, be thus summarily deprived of their rights in Russia, so long as they are Russian citizens. The Pan-Slavists and the extreme members of the Nationalist party favor the immediate expulsion of Germans at all costs.

As a practical measure, the whole question hinges upon the availability of other candidates to fill the positions now occupied by Germans. This German population does not exceed three per cent of the entire population, but it occupies a conspicuous place in the administrative activity of Russia, both of a private and a governmental nature. The majority of bank and insurance company directors, property owners and managers, are Germans; the same is true of University professors, lawyers, doctors, chief foresters, exporters, importers, civil engineers, printers and foremen in factories. Before the beginning of the war, Russia viewed this condition of things with complacency, realizing that German motive power was indispensable in a country not yet trained to develop its own resources to their highest efficiency. The problem therefore, which Russia has faced since the beginning of the war is a complicated one, for which no practical solution has yet been suggested Works that prepared ammunition for war, railroads and steamship lines for the transportation of troops and munitions, were directed by Germans. And most of the land fringing the Russian boundaries in Europe was owned by the Germans.

Even if the Russians could immediately train themselves for the work hitherto left to the Germans, a further obstacle arises in settling with the German-Russian subjects. The Russian treasury has no cash ready to pay Germans for their property or for their stocks. Even if the money were forthcoming, it is not clear to any one, just what would be done with the property when bought Russians themselves consider that the depreciation in land value and the decreased productivity during the period of transfer would be a calamity.

The various tangles into which the question unravels seems effectively to obstruct any positive action Meanwhile some Germans are being sent out of Russia and are temporarily replaced by competent persons of other nationality. Some, in view of the indispensability of their services, have received special permission to remain at their posts Those who have been expelled are concentrated in camps in Siberia and in the Ural districts awaiting the outcome of the war and the fate which shall decide whether they are to be allowed to go to their homes in Russia or the homes of their forefathers in Germany.

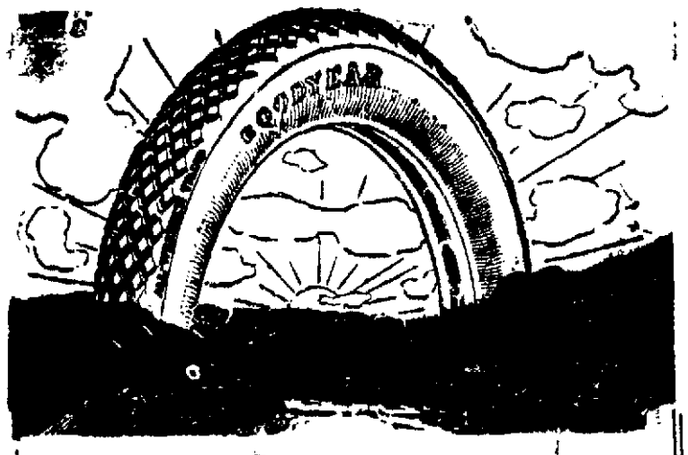
SAXON'S CLAIM OF KINSHIP OF NO AVAIL

By Associated Press

London, March 4—According to an officer who writes from a British trench in Flanders, this sign was posted by the Germans in a nearby trench:

"We are Saxons, you are Anglo-Saxons. Keep your bullets for the Prussians who relieve us tonight."

He says that immediately after posting this notice the Saxons perched themselves on their trench tops, lit their pipes, and enjoyed their ease until a volley over their heads sent them back to their trenches.



Fortified Tires Now in the Light

The supreme test of a tire is to hold top place—the place in the sun—and for years. Goodyear tires have done that. Long they have led, both in sales and prestige.

Men expect much of the top-place tire. They look for a super-tire in it. Any seeming fault, due to mishap or misuse, becomes a defect in this glare.

But Goodyear Fortified Tires, after years in this light, hold higher place than ever. Last year men bought 1,479,883 Goodyears of the pleasure-car type alone. That's about one tire for every car in use.

Who Is Wrong?

Is it the Goodyear user, whose choice is confirmed by some 400,000 others? Or is it the man who still assumes that another tire is better?

Isn't best average service, as proved by Goodyear supremacy, the right way to judge a tire?

Lower Prices

On February 1 Goodyear made the third big price reduction in two years. The three total 45%.

Yet the tires are constantly bettered. In five costly ways—each exclusive to Goodyear—our Fortified Tires excel any other tire built. And each is a great trouble-saver.

They mean for you tire content. They mean most for your money, because of our matchless output. For your own sake, try them. The following Goodyear Service Stations will supply you:

See in the coming episodes of this gigantic serial production, the strange adventures which befall this Cinderella child, Zudora. See how she escapes pitfall after pitfall, as the battle is waged to wrest from her forever the $20,000,000 mine rightfully her own

See the beautiful Madame DuVal enjoy the luxury of another as she directs the activities of her band of conspirators See the struggles, feel the thrills.

We start showing this picture again Friday at Number 10 and guarantee to our patrons that you will see a picture that will beyond any doubt more than meet with your expectations.

Up to this number ZUDORA has been forced to solve some mystery that we will admit was not as interesting as we liked, but she now has to solve the mystery of her own life that leads from one thrill to another and holds the spectator's deepest interest through the entire pictures. Do not fail to start in with this big treat next Friday.

"TRENCH INSANITY" NOW PREVAILS AMONG TROOPS

Name is Given to Form of Nervous Breakdown Caused by Firing Line Duty

By Associated Press

London, March 4.—The number of Belgian soldiers and officers who have suffered nervous breakdown more or less approaching insanity as a result of the strain of war has grown such that some of the leading medical journals are pleading for special consideration and treatment for this class.

In some cases, says the Lancet, they are certainly hopeless but there are others and happily these are in preponderating numbers where there are good grounds for believing that they may again become useful citizens.

The effects of warfare on the nervous system are more marked in the case of officers than in the case of enlisted men, the latter in many cases of trench insanity recovering "tone after a continuous sleep of from twenty four to forty eight hours. Officers similarly affected are generally sent to special hospitals for a rest of a week or ten days, but if they fail to show satisfactory progress after that time they are invalided home on the ground that it is improbable that they could be again employed on active service.

The powerful effect which modern warfare has on the mind is shown, writes a surgeon attached to a British ambulance, by the dreams and nightmares which disturb soldiers in dangerous positions. Nervous subjects react in a most striking way to the shock of explosions in their immediate vicinity. Some develop a tendency to sleep walking and are found wandering about the premises with faces expressing the utmost terror and anxiety. In the soldiers dream the dread of losing contact with his fellows seems to be felt with extreme frequency and the horror of isolation constitutes the commonest nightmare to men in the fighting line.

They dream that they are wandering through endless trenches as complicated as an artificial maze or are picking their way through lonesome forests. The slightest noise during sleep calls up visions of exploding shells or the tramp of armed men throwing them into a frenzy of shouting terror to the indignation of their resting fellows.

Another common night terror is the dream of a sudden call to arms and the inability of some indispensable article of attire or armament, a conception probably of intense mental agony. Lively still, naturally occupy a large share of the soldiers attention in dreams and an exasperating nightmare is the supposed discovery in one's bed of a shell ready and willing to burst associated with the usual nightmare incapacity to execute the necessary movements to get rid of it. Several men have had dreams centering around the inability to withdraw the bayonet from the enemy's body when urgently required for self defense.

Yet these nightmare ridden men are as brave as the rest in the face of actual danger.

GEORGE HAWKINS GETS INTERVIEW IN DALLAS

(Dallas Journal)

Sheriff Hawkins of Wichita Falls is in Dallas today looking for a white man who is wanted there. The man has been located and will be taken to Wichita Falls some time today.

Mr. Johnson, Dallas farmer, this morning told Sheriff Hawkins, who was discussing the recent crime wave over the State, that he had heard that Henry Giles and his partner, the tall and short negro highwaymen who operated here in the fall were the same men who operated in Wichita Falls in August and September. He said several men were held up and all gave the description of the highwaymen as being a tall and short negro.

The two negroes under arrest here are known to have been in Denison and other North Texas towns about that time.

Why They Do It

If you should find your congressman
Behind a black cigar
Engaged in emptying a can
In some secluded bar,
Don't tell him sternly that you think
His morals aren't on straight
He didn't go in there to drink—
But to investigate.

He's getting needful information
On anti liquor legislation.

Be not discouraged or dismayed
If prowling cops some night
Should get him in a poolroom raid
And swear they've got him right.
He would not bet upon a horse
And tarnish a good name
He came to get the facts, of course
About a gambling game.
He wants to give a grateful nation
Strong anti-betting legislation.

It begins to look as if the United States was going to be forced to fight in order to maintain her neutral rights

According to the U S census report Ellis county is the banner cotton producing county of the State having headed the list with 124899 bales for the year 1914 Williamson comes next with 102 so bales This includes ginning reports up to February 1 1915

Credit is a good thing for any county to have when used for a good purpose But when used to bring ruin and desolation upon a country it is then a waste that is deplorable That is what is happening in Europe The debts of that war will have to be met by the generations yet unborn

This week the legislature will determine whether it will adjourn on the 13th or continue on through to the first of April If it adjourns on the 13th The governor and the speaker of the house want the law makers to continue in session until platform pledges have been made good and other important matters affecting the interests of the people of the State attended to

At the very outset Governor Ferguson promised a business administration The State has set up a claim that about twenty disgruntled life insurance companies owe approximately one million dollars in back taxes Now the governor is willing to amend the Robertson law in a way that will cancel the one million due the State by these life insurance companies permit them to come back and do business provided they would invest $5,000,000 in five years in Texas securities The governor at first wanted to make it $50,000,000 in five years but the companies protested and he cut it in half and they have not yet agreed to the proposition

The postoffice and parcels post departments of the national government for the first time in about thirty five years are not only self sustaining but are operated at a profit Postmaster General Burleson has just issued his check to the government for $[illegible] 000 after paying all expenses of operating his branch of the two departments That does not look much like Democratic administration failure Another thing in this connection to be considered is that since the parcels post was established and put into operation it has compelled the express companies to cut their express charges — in some instances almost in half and by that means the general public those who patronize express companies have been saved a sum perhaps far greater than the profit reaped by the general government in the operation of the parcels post

THERE'S A REASON

It has got to be [illegible] a small thing for people to be in jail in Burnett county last some of our readers did not know what was meant last week when we said business was picking up at Fred Zimmerman Sometimes for weeks Sheriff Zimmerman does not have a prisoner in jail However this excellent record is surpassed by some of the western counties where they have made warehouses of their jails [illegible] Bulletin

school if such a law was not passed He wanted immediate consideration of the bill If the bill is wrong he wanted the Senate to say so in a fair and square open fight and not by delays and postponements

Bee declared that not at any time did he let his future in any way enter his espousal of this bill He admitted an ambition in the fullest measure to serve well his State and country but his political fortunes were not to be brought into this matter If constables must be called out to enforce the provisions of this bill it were better than that the child should grow up to be taken to jail as a felon for lack of education

Hudspeth said the father first would be taken to the cemetery for resisting the constable

In reply Bee recited the statutes relating to delinquent children passed while Hudspeth was a member either of the House or Senate In the midst of the flow of eloquence and a reign of almost turbulence recess was taken until Thursday morning

House Passes Tenant Bill

Yesterday afternoon the House finally passed the McGregor land tenant bill by a vote of 102 to 23 after killing the Tillotson Williams substitute and voting down every other amendment offered

Not a comma was changed in the bill as it came from the Senate and so it received the necessary two thirds to make the emergency clause effective it will be the law of the land as soon as it is signed by Governor Ferguson

The vote was taken after an all day debate which was listened to with interest by Governor Ferguson The governor remained on the floor during the entire time that the bill was under discussion and after it had been finally passed expressed much satisfaction that the peoples will had been enacted into law

Dwight Lewelling of Dallas declared that the bill as drawn was a howling farce and suggested that it be changed in consultation with the governor I shall vote for this bill even if it is not amended for I do not want the responsibility for the failure to pass it rest upon me I want the governor to stand the responsibility and unless amendments are approved by him I shall vote to pass the bill without changing a word As Lewelling spoke he frequently nodded in the direction of the governor

I am tired he declared of having governors go before the people and say that they wanted to do this or that but the legislature prevented them If Governor Ferguson wants this bill I shall vote for it but I believe it is worthless and as far as I think it will give the tenant farmer is concerned I make the humble prediction that it will be a direful miserable failure

The motion of Lewelling to post pone action and refer it to the governor was defeated as were also all amendments and the bill was finally passed

BELGIANS INTERNED IN HOLLAND WELL CARED FOR

Are Housed in Pleasant Quarters and Accorded Very Excellent Treatment

By Associated Press

Nunspeet The Netherlands March 4 —The life of the nine thousand Belgian refugees who are enjoying the hospitality of the Dutch authorities in a vast camp here is an interesting side light of the war The camp which is one of the numerous similar concentration centers spread about Holland is situated on a sandy plain surrounded by pine woods renowned for their efficacy in the treatment of incipient tuberculosis It consists of four villages formed of capitally arranged and commodious huts in which each family has a chamber All have board floors and are illuminated with electric light In each of the villages are large workrooms for different trades washhouses, bath and a children's recreation shed all provided with heating apparatus while there are four schoolhouses and a wooden church capable of seating about 2000 people Hospitals for ordinary ailments and for infectious diseases a dispensary and several small libraries have been either specially erected or established in houses already standing in the neighborhood and lent for the purpose by charitable people

The camp is under a Dutch military guard and besides the company of 150 soldiers a small detachment of county police and Belgian gendarmes patrols the villages to kep order Tools necessary to all the ordinary trades are provided and several small huts in each village are fitted up as workshops The men make or mend all their own shoes and clothes while the women do sewing

It is interesting to observe the pride the refugees take in the decoration of the huts which are separated by wide tracts of ground Each shack has received its name and the differences in the two Belgian races—Flemish and Walloon—can be marked at once by the inscriptions in Low Dutch or French A small proportion of the people are bilingual but 6 000 of them speak only Flemish and the other 3000 only French

Around the shacks, notwithstanding the sand soil some of the men have laid out little patches of garden The authorities distribute daily premiums to those obtaining the best results in neatness and cultivation In one place an excellent imitation of the Dutch lion is laid out in sand and green turf fetched from the woods

Four priests and 24 sisters are engaged in the religious and educational work of the camp and besides these there are men and women among the refugees who possess a high grade of education and who give their services as readers to their comrades in distress in the schoolrooms after night fall A benevolent resident of the district also has presented a moving picture apparatus for entertainment.

Sickness among the refugees has been little considering the number of people and the circumstances under which they were brought together in a spot where no drainage or sanitary arrangements existed before their arrival Only one adult has died since the camp was formed and that was a woman of over eighty years of age Among the children a number have died of measles

NOVEL EFFECTS IN COLORS PROPOSED FOR UNIFORMS

Not Believed Solid Shades Afford Best Concealment—Stripes May Be Used

By Associated Press

London March 4 The experience of this war may lead to the trial of soldiers uniforms striped like the zebra or banded by the colors of the rainbow in the opinion of some military observers who have serious doubt as to the effectiveness of khaki blue gray or any of the other colors now in use In India and South Africa where khaki got its reputation as a uniform it fitted well into the backgrounds of the landscapes but in the different atmosphere and landscape of Europe both the khaki and the blue grey show up conspicuously in mass

Nature the color experts now say did not stripe the zebra by way of ornament but as a protective measure it is the unbroken mass of color no matter of what shade that catches the eye in the distance Colonel Maude a well known expert recounts an instance in India when his party approaching a parade ground from a distance were unable to see but one of three battalions until comparatively close up The troops all wore scarlet belts and cross straps which broke the mass of color while the conspicuous body had dark straps which blended in with the red Tigers leopards birds lizards snakes and most living creatures use a mottle coloring

While the scarlet is most conspicuous at a short range it is the first of the primary colors to fade from view at a distance As a landscape has all colors in it striped large checks or variagated blotches of different colors are the easiest to melt into the background This fact was recognized in the old times when forts on the coast were painted in black and white squares

Even now crude colors in stripes are used to conceal wagons from air men

63RD CONGRESS HAS ACCOMPLISHED MUCH

VAST AMOUNT OF LEGISLATION PASSED IN ITS 637 WORKING DAYS

ALMOST CONTINUOUS SESSION

Some Important Measures Failed—Many Prominent Members Pass Out Today

By Associated Press

Washington March 4 The sixty third Congress first under complete domination of the Democratic party since 1894 ended today at noon

It had been in almost continuous session since President Wilson's inauguration two years ago Beginning with an extra session called by the president April 7 1913 the Congress has worked actually 637 days

Much important legislation was accomplished but much contemplated some of it hard pressed by the president and party leaders was left undone It is the present intention of the president and his advisers to give Congress a rest Rather than force an extra session they would leave the remainder of the administration's constructive aspirations to a new Congress next winter, which although under Democratic control will have a greatly reduced majority in the House

Tariff and Bank Laws

Foremost in the enactments of the sixty third Congress were

The Underwood Simmons tariff act with the income tax which replaced the Payne Aldrich tariff law

The federal reserve act reorganizing the currency system

Anti trust laws to supplement the Sherman act including the Clayton law and federal trade commission act the former providing for punishment of individuals who violate business regulations and the latter establishing a government institution to aid in keeping business within the law

Repeal of the Panama canal tolls exemption for American coast wise shipping

Act directing the building at a cost of $15,000,000 of a government railroad to the mineral fields of Alaska

Act to regulate cotton exchanges and to penalize dealings in purely speculative cotton future sales

A special internal revenue tax commonly called the war tax

A government war risk insurance bureau to insure American ships against the hazards of war and an act providing for the transfer of foreign owned or built ships to American registry

Some That Failed.

Of those measures which failed of enactment or could not be considered for lack of time the following are regarded by Democratic leaders as paramount

Bill for government purchase or charter of transoceanic ships for the establishment of an American merchant marine which encountered the most stubborn filibuster in the history of the Senate created an insurgent movement in the Democratic ranks and held up general legislation for weeks of the last session

The immigration bill including a literacy test for admission of aliens which passed both Houses was vetoed by President Wilson and failed by a narrow margin to repass the House on a motion to overturn the veto

Conservation measures urged by the president to provide a new system for leasing of water power sites and a leasing system to open the mineral resources of the country

Bill to enlarge the measure of Philippine self government and to extend promise of ultimate independence to Filipino people a measure which passed the House and was approved by a Senate committee

Regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the issue of railroad securities originally a part of the administration's anti trust program

Prohibition and Suffrage

In addition to the foregoing scores of general legislative bills covering a wide range of subjects died with the end of the Congress among them measures for federal road improvement general waterway development reorganization of the civil service to prohibit importation of convict made goods and several measures for reorganization of the army

The last session of the Congress was notable too for the failure of the two great issues national prohibition and woman suffrage Proposed constitutional amendments precipitated two of the most exciting legislative battles in the history of the House of Representatives both measures failing to receive the necessary two thirds vote

Foreign Relations

Foreign relations of the nation were constantly to the fore almost from the beginning of the Congress The Mexican situation requiring close attention from the outset as has the European war Throughout the session the president and the Senate foreign relations committee were in frequent conferences and much welcome to restrain unseemly demonstrations which might have disturbed international tranquility Early in the session general arbitration treaties with several great foreign powers were renewed for five year periods and 26 peace commission treaties providing for investigation of international disputes before resort to arms were negotiated and ratified A treaty to enforce the regulations adopted by the London Safety of Sea Conference was ratified last December but with an amendment making reservations which came too late for other powers to consider thus preventing enforcement of the convention A treaty with Nicaragua providing for acquirement of the Nicaraguan canal route and naval stations for $[illegible] was left unacted on by the Senate and the pending treaty with Colombia directing payment of $25 000 000 for the Panama Canal strip was held up by the foreign relations committee

The closing session of the Congress was almost wholly devoted to appropriation bills the ship purchase fight and a few general measures Aside from appropriations about the only important legislative enactments included the creation of the coast guard by consolidation of the life saving and revenue cutter services recognition of grades in the diplomatic and consular service requirement of registration of all and imposing special taxes upon all dealers manufacturers or importers of opium or its derivatives and the creation of the Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado

National Defense

Much debate on the condition of national defenses culminated the closing [illegible] Proposals [illegible] the nation [illegible] and military [illegible] However [illegible] expected [illegible] the report in connection with the military supply bills

The Congress also was marked by differences between President Wilson and some Democratic leaders over patronage a spirited contest over confirmation of nominees for the federal reserve board, two successful filibusters one in the Senate against the rivers and harbors appropriation bill and the other the fight of Republicans and Democratic allies against the ship purchase bill in the Senate to establish a cloture rule to limit prolonged debate in the interest of a special inquiry into outside influences exerted against the ship purchase bill a general office investigation which extended for many months and proposed of an inquiry into senatorial campaign contributions

With the fall of the gavel [illegible] many senators and congressmen [illegible] figures passed into [illegible] life Senators who retire are Lorimer of New York Burton Ohio Perkins California Thornton Louisiana Bristow Kansas Stephenson Wisconsin Crawford South Dakota, Reed Kentucky and White of Alabama Representative Underwood leaves the House to go to the Senate Scores of representatives in the house give way to new members

Twenty-Four Hours A Day

You know how irritating it is if the electric lights go out for a minute when you are in the middle of a chapter.

Human ingenuity is put to a hard task when it undertakes to give you service without a stop at all times.

The electric light company must work twenty-four hours a day and it must have material for operation which can be DEPENDED UPON AT ALL TIMES.

Texaco is the choice for such service.

At the plant of the Central Texas Power Transmission Company, Hico, the Curtis Turbine has been running twenty-four hours a day for over a year with only one stop on Sundays. Texaco has been used from the start. Here is what Mr. Gleason says about it:

CENTRAL TEXAS POWER & TRANSMISSION CO.

Hico, Texas, November 24 1914.

THE TEXAS COMPANY.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

GENTLEMEN:

WE HAVE YOUR LETTER OF INQUIRY ABOUT THE PERFORMANCE OF TEXACO CETUS OIL IN OUR CURTIS TURBINE WE ARE GLAD TO SAY THAT IT HAS MORE THAN FULFILLED OUR MOST SANGUINE EXPECTATIONS

THIS MACHINE WAS STARTED ONE YEAR AGO. IT HAS OPERATED 24 HOURS A DAY RIGHT ALONG, WITH ONLY ONE STOP EACH WEEK; THAT ON SUNDAYS. THE TURBINE HAS THE ORIGINAL OIL IN IT. IT HAS BEEN EXAMINED BY OUR CONSULTING ENGINEER, MR. NEFF, AND THE GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY'S MR. VIVIAN. THEY REPORT THAT THE RESULTS ARE IDEAL LUBRICATION THE ONLY ADDITION OF OIL IS FOR EVAPORATION, WHICH IS SO LITTLE THAT IT IS NEGLIGIBLE.

WE DO NOT THINK OF CHANGING TO ANY OTHER OIL. YOURS VERY TRULY,

CENTRAL TEXAS POWER & TRANSMISSION CO.

What money I have was made in Wichita Falls and I am glad to be able to spend it here and expect to continue to do so keeping abreast with the progress of the city as near as I can

TAKE CARE OF YOUR HAIR

It is said that there are more bald headed men and stringy haired women in America than any country in the world. This is due to neglecting the care of the hair and scalp until it is too late. A bald man buys hair growers after his hair is gone, which is a waste of money. The best hair tonic made will not produce hair on a bald head any more than it will grow a hirsute adornment on a gas meter. No dentist promises to grow teeth, no physician promises to replace the fingers that have been amputated. One proposition is as reasonable as the other. Keep a bottle of Dike's Quinine and Sage and use it on your scalp while you have hair and you'll never be bald. The finest preparation of the age keeping ladies' hair soft and live. Heals the scalp and stops hair from falling. Fifty cents the bottle. Let us tell you about it.

Cleaning and Pressing
Fine fabrics is my specialty. This is the kin dof work that we have made the reputation of this shop on. Work that people could not afford to trust ordinary shops. It pays to be careful where you send a fifty dollar suit to be cleaned and pressed. A fine garment costs too much money to risk Tom, Dick and Harry to be cleaned. We are in the tailoring business to give you service and earn the money you pay us. To do these things we must know how to do what you want done. We take off our hat to nobody in the tailoring game. We know all that is known about the business. We don't promise to do impossible things but if it can be done we can do it.

Vulcanizing vs. Patching
We do the real vulcanizing, not gasoline patching. We don't have an errand boy who patches tubes when he isn't running errands. We have a first-class steam vulcanizing plant and our operators of this plant are experienced. We will gladly come out and change your tire, and we know how to change it.

EXCUSES
Never pay dividends, neither do they mark the graves, or beautify your cemetery plots. Some are droning on the good folks of this town who take pride in trying to beautify our sacred burial grounds, towards which all are drifting.
Is that excuse you made last year still on your lips? Have you forgotten that promise you made to a loved one? Has time brushed away the tears, and with it the dear sweet remembrance of those who loved you? Humanity is careless, and prone to err, but there is no excuse for you to not remember them with a suitable memorial. It is the least and last thing one can do.
Let us help you and thus give lasting satisfaction.
